DIGITAL WHOLE-HOUSE COMMUNICATION:

The beauty of Odyssey-Millennium's digital communications package is the ease of use; pick up any telephone and you can page throughout the house. When the door-bell rings, pick up any phone and speak to your visitor. You can even watch them at your front door- while you speak to them - by turning on any TV, or on the full motion Via! TouchScreens that control your music system. You can even unlock the front door by pushing a button on your telephone. Best of all, the system works with any touch-tone phones, no special equipment is required!

DIGITAL WHOLE-HOUSE MUSIC DISTRIBUTION:

Sound quality matters, but so does esthetics. That's why Odyssey-Millennium uses virtually invisible in-ceiling or in-wall speakers for distributing music throughout your home. But don't be fooled by their designs, these products are manufactured by America's best speaker companies for un-compromised sound quality and durability. Additionally, operation of the system is convenient and easy thanks to the in-wall key-pads or Via! TouchScreens that control the entire system at the touch of a button. Plus, the home is divided into zones allowing listeners in each zone to choose what to listen to, at what volume, independently of what other listeners are doing. That means the kids can be listening to their music and you can be listening to yours, all at the same time, without duplicating equipment!
